Heart

Author's Notes:
Another drabble from Friday. Again thanks to Lia for the encouragement :)

His eyes drift shut. Music overwhelming him, filling him, forcing him to feel again.

All of the sadness, the misery, the frustration rolls down his face.

It breaks him, and then makes him whole again.

Every time he hears him play, no matter what it is, it still gets to him. It takes everything in his power to not break down on stage.

To feel too much. To show his weakness.

And yet, here he is in the studio with tears in his eyes. Expected to sing these mournful lyrics.

To bare himself to the one who stole his heart.
